LOCAL.

TRAIN ON TIME.
SLIGHT snow fall this morning. Searcely enough for sleighing.
CARNIVAL at the Hockey rink on Friday night, 16th inst.
MEETING of the supreme court on banc at Calgary on Jan. 23rd, 1899.
J. W. KELLY leaves on to-morrow's train on a visit to Ontario.
ROBERT MILLIGAN of Kneehill, Alberta, has been appointed a game guardian.
BISHOP LEGAL, of St. Albert, and Father Lacombe will leave Montreal for Edmonton on the 12th.
ALEX. FRASER threshed 60,000 bushels of grain this season in Horse Hills and East Stony Plain settlements.
JESUS JONES of Pincher Creek, Alberta, has been appointed stock inspector by the Northwest government.
INGRAM & Chamberlain threshed 50,000 bushels of grain this season in Clover Bar, Indian reserve and Clearwater settlements.
A MEETING called in South Edmonton for Wednesday evening to consider incorporation was adjourned until Friday evening.
This Alberta Independent alternates with the Alberta Tribune of Calgary practically making the Tribune (of Calgary) a semi-weekly. The first issue appeared on Dec. 7th. It announces itself as a supporter of the liberal party in Dominion affairs.
FREDERICK public school district No. 478 has been proclaimed, consisting of sections 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35 and 36 in township 48 range 24, and sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 in township 49 range 24, all west of the fourth meridian.
The Galt company of Lethbridge have launched an irrigation scheme to cover 500,000 acres of land in Southern Alberta. The St. Mary's river will furnish the water, which will be spread over the dry plains lying southwest of Lethbridge. The estimated expenditure is half a million.
A BAZAAR and concert in aid of St. Anthony Roman Catholic church, South Edmonton, will be held on the afternoon and evening of the 21st and 22nd Dec. in Rose new hall on the south side. Fancy goods, toys, fruits and candies will be for sale. Dinner and tea will be served both days.
POTTER & McLEOD are building a new style of fanning mill, which for lightness and efficiency is claimed to beat the world. The principle upon which it differs from other faners is that the screens have an endways instead of the usual side ways shake. The machine is therefore perfectly steady although the shake is very rapid. It is small, neat and complete in all particulars, and very cheap.
THOMAS RATTREY, Jacob Bently, Stephen Plumley and Mathew Omnes, delegates from Minnesota, have been looking over the Edmonton district for the past three days in company with agent C. W. Satter. They returned this morning more than pleased with this country. They have each bought a half section of C. P. R. land in township 55, range 22, and will return early in the spring.

NEW RAILWAY IN KOOTENAY.

West Kootenay is to have another railway from a point on the Great Northern. It will enter the district by the valley of the Kootenay river and follow up the east shore of Kootenay lake. The contract has been let to Foley Bros., Larsen and Stephens. Fifty miles is to be built inside the Canada line by July 1st, '09. It is called the Kootenay Valley and Bedlington railway. It is expected that work will commence at once, and will require the employment of 5,000 men. This ought to help out the price of Edmonton oats.

KOOTENAY RATES.

The Fort Steele Prospector is authority for the statement that railway rates in the Kootenay are again demoralized, and that the C. P. R. and Great Northern people are holding a conference in St. Paul for the purpose of securing their adjustment. These rates may be demoralized as far as the export of ore is concerned, but Edmonton shippers of produce have not yet heard of any demoralization (!) of rates on produce going in. They are anxiously hoping for some such demoralization, but so far it has failed to connect. If the rates over the Crow's Nest road when fixed do not demoralize (!) the present rates very considerably people here will want to know what that road was built for anyway.

Since the above was written the BULLETIN has received new light on the subject. The demoralization alluded to by the Prospector is in the rates on produce coming in from Manitoba. The Great Northern and the C. P. R. in competing for the carriage of produce from Manitoba to Kootenay have cut rates so that Manitoba produce can be landed in Kootenay much more cheaply in proportion to the distance than Edmonton produce. As the demand for produce in Kootenay is very active, and as Washington oats cannot at present prices be placed on the Kootenay market in competition with Edmonton oats, this cutting of rates between the Great Northern and the C. P. R. has cut down the price of oats at Edmonton. It may not have struck the C. P. R. people that in their anxiety to prevent the Great Northern from carrying Manitoba grain to Kootenay they have cut Edmonton grain out of the Kootenay market at a fair price to the producer.

When rates are cut between Manitoba and Kootenay, if Alberta does not get a proportionate cut it is simply cut out of the Kootenay market. The demoralization mentioned by the Prospector exists, and we are its victims. We look for new rates on the opening of the Crow's Nest railway which will remedy this state of affairs.

THE TRAIL TO FORT NELSON.

Messrs. James and John Fair, who recently returned from the Nelson, have given the BULLETIN the following account of the trail which they followed from Peace River Crossing to Fort Nelson:

The Fairs left Edmonton on March 12th with George Stephenson and two Jamieson Bros., of Griswold, Man. The Fairs are from Elkhorn, Man. They reached Peace River Crossing on April 5th, 23 days from Edmonton. This part of the trip occupied some of the parties several months.

They left Peace River Crossing on April 18th. Geddis & Harris with their band of cattle had left a few days before, and the Fairs followed their trail. Geddis & Harris had engaged an Indian guide to a point beyond Hay river.

Crossed the White Mud river on May 4th. Estimated distance from Peace River Crossing 40 miles. Country rolling prairie for a few miles out, then prairie and timber alternating. White Mud somewhat larger than the Sturgeon. Crossed it on drift wood.

Crossed the South or Main Fork of Battle river on May 12th. Estimated distance from White Mud 90 miles. Country passed through, poplar woods and prairie, somewhat rolling. Plenty of feed. River about as large as the Pembina; fordable.

Crossed middle fork of Battle river on May 21st. Estimated distance from south fork 45 miles. Not so large as south fork. Fordable. Country of same character as before, but more woods.

Crossed North Fork of Battle river on May 22nd. Estimated distance 10 miles from Middle Fork.

Crossed Hay river on June 1st. Estimated distance from Battle river 50 miles. River larger than the Pembina; fordable. Valley moderately deep, with sloping sides. Poplar country with prairie openings and plenty of feed continued to Hay river. Good travelling. General direction north-west. The White Mud, Battle and Hay rivers flow northeastward.

On the west bank of Hay river the country becomes almost entirely timbered, principally with small spruce, there is a great deal of moss on the ground, with considerable muskeg, and feed is scarce.

Ten miles beyond Hay river was a small creek with some prairie openings and plenty of feed. Camped there for about a week on account of fires raging in the woods ahead. (These fires were undoubtedly let go by the leading parties, although the Fairs and others blamed the Indians). These fires destroyed most of what feed there otherwise would have been, and rendered travelling very much more difficult in other ways. Taylor's blaze was found at this camp, and was followed to Fort Nelson. The Indian guide turned back shortly after leaving Hay river.

Left camp 10 miles beyond Hay river on June 8th. Twenty miles further on passed some big hills on the height of land between the Hay and Nelson rivers. Saw marked on a tree there "Killed a bear. Go up to top of hill and look back. Taylor's camp, 30th April."

Came upon the waters of the east branch of the Nelson on June 16th. Estimated distance from Hay river 80 miles. The stream was small, but the valley was about as deep and wide as that of the Saskatchewan, but with a more gradual slope. The direction of the valley was northwestward, the same as the trail which had been followed so far. The travelling from Hay river had been difficult owing to timber, standing and fallen, muskeg, burnt ground, and consequent scarcity of feed. Along the bank of the valley of the east branch of the Nelson was dry ground and fair feed, but immediately in rear the timber and swamp commenced.

Travelled along the valley of the east branch still northwestward about 80 miles, crossing small streams which put into it, and striking from point to point along the valley, which seemed to become shallower.

Left the Nelson on June 24th at a point where the valley seemed to turn due west, and struck northward.

It was at this point that Latimer and Brown as they were coming out met the Richardson party, who on the information given by Latimer, decided to continue on down the valley, with their horses, and rafting their supplies. They reached Fort Nelson on August 20th. Although they were longer in making the trip than they would have been had they followed the trail already made by the leading parties, there is no doubt that had all the parties continued along the bank of the Nelson, they would have done much better than they did, as there was plenty of feed on the banks of the valley, and a better chance of avoiding muskeg.

After leaving the Nelson on June 24th, travelling northerly, on July 2nd the Fairs came upon the southwest bank of a river which apparently flowed northward. The trail followed a bend of this river for about a mile, and then left it to the right. This river was nearly as large as the Pembina.

On July 8th they crossed a large creek flowing northeasterly. In this part of the country the streams all seemed to flow north or northeasterly, but what waters they were cannot even be surmised.

On July 17th they came to what had apparently been an Indian camp. Up to this point since leaving the Nelson the general direction had been north, through a most difficult country of timber and muskeg. The parties knew that the direction was not the one they wanted to go, but expected all the time to strike a change, or that it would lead to something. It was dissatisfaction with this part of the trip that caused Latimer and Brown to turn back.

From the Indian camp a sharp turn was made to the southwest, still in the same kind of country.

On July 19th they crossed a stream flowing east, no doubt a part of the same unknown water system which they saw on July 2nd and 8th.

About July 25th when within 40 miles of Fort Nelson they crossed a stream flowing westerly to the Nelson. From here there was less muskeg and spruce and more poplar and grass.

Reached Fort Nelson on the Nelson river on August 1st. About fifteen miles before reaching Nelson they came into a small creek valley where there is some open ground and plenty of grass, also some hay. The valley of the Nelson is very much like that of the Saskatchewan river at Edmonton and about the same size. The Hudson's Bay buildings are on the west side of the river about two miles below the entrance of the Sicannie from the west. The Fairs consider the Sicannie the main stream, believing that it carries much more water than the Nelson.

A part of the Fresno party who had left Edmonton in August of '97, were reported to have passed down the Nelson a few days before the first of the parties from Peace River Crossing reached there. These men had come over from Fort St. John to the east branch, built a boat there and came down. Their names were Haug Bros. and Kelly of Fresno, California, Walter Bissell, of Edmonton, and B. F. Sears, of Bennington, Vermont. This was reported by Mr. McLeod, the H. B. officer in charge at Fort Nelson.

Just in to-day, a nice assortment of

NELSON PRICES, Dec. 8.
Reported for the BULLETIN by C. E. Mallette & Co.
Price by car lots f. o. b. Nelson:
Oats, per ton, $22.50
equal to 37½c a bushel.
Wild prairie hay, per ton, 13.00
Blue joint, per ton, 14.00
Potatoes, per ton, 16.00
Beans and shorts, per ton, 22.00
Chop feed, per ton, 22.00
Timothy hay, per ton, 18.00
Chicken wheat, per ton, 20.00
Eggs per dozen, 19c.
Creamery butter, 22c.
Dairy butter, 18c.

MARKETS.
Wheat stands at 46c for No. 1 at the elevator. Many farmers complain that they are being dealt with unfairly in the grading. That they are being paid second and third class prices for first class wheat. Probably the bulk of the wheat is going at 40c to 44c, although the average quality is high. Deliveries have fallen off greatly since the drop in price last week.

Oats are still coming in briskly, although somewhat checked by the fall in price. On Friday one Edmonton firm of buyers took in 3,000 bushels. As there are five buyers on the market on the north side the total deliveries must have been fully 6,000 bushels on this side and probably more on the south side. Prices range from 18c to 20c on the north side, for feed quality. But two of the buyers had dropped out of Saturday owing to their warehouses being full. The fall in the price of grain, and the continued fine weather, have affected business considerably.

Hogs have been coming in fairly well so far, but the supply will be larger after New Year.

Hogs live, 4c per lb.
Hogs dressed, 5½c
Cattle are plentiful. Good three year olds bring $30 to $35 each, equal to 2½c to 2½c live weight. These are prices paid by local butchers. Cattle suitable for export are higher during the export season.

Beef dressed, 4½c to 5c
Regular shipments of dressed beef, hogs and poultry are made to Kootenay points.

Poultry in fair supply and demand. Plenty of chickens and turkeys in the country to supply Christmas demand.

Chickens, dressed, per lb., 8c to 10c
Turkeys, dressed, per lb., 12c
Ducks and geese, (carcasses) per lb., 10c

Poultry 15c to 20c for tubs and fresh prints, and fair supply of tub butter and supply of fresh. Inferior butter is being refused.

Eggs still scarce at 25c to 30c.
Both butter and eggs are above export price.

Hay plentiful at $4 to $5. The latter is the standard price. Oat hay, same price as blue joint.

Coal $2.00 a ton.
Wood $2.00 a cord.

ARTISIAN WELLS.
EDITOR BULLETIN.

SIR: Re waterworks for Edmonton. The following information taken from an article on "Spouting Bore," by Mr. H. Goldie Howard, is interesting to this town, more especially as Winnipeg is spoken of as the first city in the Canadian west which is to solve the same difficulty re water supply that confronts Edmonton, by artesian boring.

In Chamberlain, South Dakota, the town has an artesian well which it utilizes for running its electric plant, &c.

At St. Augustine, Florida, is the greatest well yet sunk in America. It throws a stream out of a 12 inch pipe several millions of gallons daily.

The total value of horses in Queensland alone is £928,081 sterling.

In Australia the cost varies according to circumstances. The following are the tenders of the Petrolia Boring Co., from surface to 1,000 feet 27 shillings per foot, 1,000 to 1,500 feet 35 " " " " 1,500 to 2,000 feet 40 " " " " and so on pro rata.

An artesian well in a sheep run known as "Cambridge Downs" No. 1 bore, in northern division of Queensland, Australia, water was struck at 542 feet. Yield 700,000 gallons per day.

No. 2 known as the "Charleville Bore," 1,371 feet deep. Yield 3,000,000 gallons daily. Altitude above sea level 975 feet. (Edmonton is 2,200 feet.)

In Western Australia alone some 454 wells have been sunk, yielding 183,137,240 gallons daily.

In New South Wales there is the "En-gonia" bore 1,666 feet deep and yielding 320,000 gallons daily. Another is the "Tongareva bore" which is 165 feet and yields 176,000 gallons daily.

In South Queensland the "Claverdon Downs Bore, No. 2" 1,777 feet deep, and yields 1,500,000 gallons daily. The "Thur-lapoon" 1,719 feet, 3,000,000 gallons daily. The "Chlorine Plains Bore" 1,848 feet 4,500,000 gallons daily.

In Boise City, Idaho, one of the five bores throw the water up into the air a distance of 85 feet.

I had a conversation not long ago with an expert on the subject of boring, and he said that he had no doubt that a most valuable flowing well could be got at Edmonton, which would not only supply good water, but also mineral water, natural gas, last but not least, petroleum. That in his opinion, 2,500 feet would be the outside depth.

If capitalists can be found who not give them a franchise for a certain number of years. The town in the meantime would be put to no expenditure, and would reap a great benefit.

F. FRANKER TIMS.
THE GALICIAN.

C. W. Speers, general colonization agent of the Dominion government, returned on Friday from a visit to the Galician settlements east of Edna, passing on the way the German settlements of Moravians at Bruderheim. Mr. Speers reports:

The large colony of Galicians at Edna, comprising over 300 families, have made great progress since settling in this district, the first settling there some five years ago. At subsequent dates this colony has been supplemented from time to time.

The contingent arrived in August 1898. Two large churches are in course of construction, two schools established and generally speaking they are in a thrifty, progressive condition.

The German-Moravian colonies at Bruderheim and Bruderfeld have made marked progress. A large church is completed. The small but has been supplied by a permanent dwelling in nearly every case and there is every indication of progress.

They have threshed 35,000 bushels of wheat this year. Several boys are receiving instruction from the Jesuits at Bruderheim. Rev. Schwartz, both secular and religious. Their religion is essentially Protestant. They are a progressive colony.

LAW SOCIETY.
The following advocates have been elected members of the law society of the Northwest Territories. N. D. Beck, Edmonton; W. C. Hamilton, Regina; Jas. Mackay, Prince Albert; E. L. Elwood, Moosomin; C. F. P. Conybeare, Lethbridge; N. Mackenzie; P. McCarthy, C. C. McCaul, J. A. Longhead, Calgary. In all probability the meeting for organization will be held at the time of the sittings of the supreme court en banc in Calgary on Jan. 23rd.

WHERE VOTERS ARE SCARCER.
Regina Leader: A northern subscriber writes: "I see the Standard last week states that 'Capt. Meyers comes back from Kinistino with a small majority.' The truth is that Capt. Meyers' opponent only saved his deposit by five ballots. The following is the result as declared by the Kinistino returning officer: Meyers 98, Sanderson 51. Majority for Meyers 47. Total number of votes cast 149."

UNRESERVED AUCTION SALE

Town Lots

At Fort Saskatchewan,

Saturday, December 24th

At 1 p. m. and 7 p. m.

Owing to a number of requests from settlers in the country for lots in the Town of Fort Saskatchewan, which they wanted to get at a bargain, the Townsite Syndicate have decided to hold an Auction Sale of Lots, without reserve, and thus give everybody an equal chance. Mr. W. Scott Robertson, of Edmonton, has therefore been instructed to conduct the auction Saturday, the 24th December, from 1 to 6 p. m. and from 7.30 p. m. until the sale is completed, at Marling's Hotel, Fort Saskatchewan.

Fort Saskatchewan's situation and prospects of future importance are second to none in the North.

Husbands, buy your wives and daughters a Christmas box that will be worthy of them. Sons invest for yourselves and future wives. Ladies, invest for yourselves. A few bushels of wheat and oats sold now and invested in lots, at this the greatest opportunity ever offered in Northern Alberta, will bring its own reward. Everybody is wanted to take a share in lots at Fort Saskatchewan.

TERMS—Half cash and balance in thirty days, or endorsed note. Title perfect, and deeds will be given immediately.

Any other information will be given with pleasure on application to
